Innovations in 2025

After extensive research and development, we're launching innovative panels to address key areas of patient health:

Advanced Hormone Testing

Gain a comprehensive evaluation of sex and adrenal hormones, bone turnover markers, and endocrine disruptors like Bisphenol A and glyphosate. This dual approach measures bioavailable hormones via saliva and metabolites via wet urine, providing precise, real-time insights into hormone production, metabolism, and bone health.

Oral Microbiome Evaluation

Explore the oral microbiome's role in systemic health with a detailed analysis of bacteria and fungi linked to gum health, tooth decay, and more. Personalized treatment recommendations offer actionable strategies to improve oral and overall health.

Comprehensive Urinary Health Panel

Assess urinary health with advanced pathogen detection, antibiotic resistance analysis, and detailed urinalysis. This holistic approach supports effective management of urinary tract infections and imbalances in the urobiome.

Deeper Cardiovascular Health Insights

Leverage a multi-faceted panel evaluating genetic predispositions, lipid profiles, and inflammatory markers to provide a complete picture of cardiovascular health. Advanced methodologies deliver actionable data to optimize patient outcomes.
